MIDNIGHT

The rapture of the Church is no longer a distant prophecy—it is an imminent reality. We are in the closing moments of this present age. The prophetic clock is not only ticking; it is in its final seconds. The Spirit of God is summoning His people to alertness, to consecration, to divine urgency. Midnight is here.

It is easy to be lulled by the rhythm of routine—to be engrossed in the busyness of academics, ambitions, entertainment, and social relevance. Yet while many slumber, the Spirit says: "Behold, the bridegroom is coming; go out to meet him!" (Matthew 25:6)

This is not a time for casual Christianity. It is not a time to drift in spiritual apathy or live as though tomorrow is guaranteed. This is the time to awaken to righteousness and walk in the consciousness of eternity. The Lord Jesus is coming for a Church without spot, wrinkle, or blemish—a people full of faith, burning with love, and living by the Spirit.

Will you be ready?

The parable of the ten virgins was not a lesson in morality—it was a warning to the end-time Church. All ten had lamps, but only five had oil. The difference was preparation. Expectation. Readiness. And when the cry came at midnight,
